

Please note that the Washington Street Conference Room has a floor occupant load of 64 persons and the raised platform has an occupant load of 7. There are only chairs for the rated occupant load and once these are filled there can be no more people allowed in until another person leaves the room. This is a life safety requirement there cannot be additional persons allowed to sit on floors and window sills etc. If the number of people exceeds allowed all proceedings will stop until the count is reduced to allowed maximums. All proceedings are recorded on DVD, broadcast live on channel 22, and also are available live and for replay on the web at <http://www.townhallstreams.com/locations/camden-me>. Future meetings when public input for the Fox Hill Zone change request is anticipated will be held in the Opera House and advertised on the Camden Web Page. These maximums are for occupant safety and are not meant to deter public comment on any Planning Board items past or future.
